

Scot Duke

President and Business Golf Mentor
Innovative Business Golf Solutions, LLC.

A consulting company with a wide range of services from expert advice on business operations to provide ways to address solving business issues creatively. Specializing in educating business owners on the importance of developing creative ways of communicating to staff members, introduce a business product to potential clients and provide employees with additional information on strengthen their business skills.

Scot brings to the market his 31 years of business Operations Manager with SBC Yellow Pages, currently known as AT&T Yellow Pages.

Mr Duke is the Author of the book; How to Play Business Golf where he outlines the specifics of using golf as a business tool. He also has several articles published on the benefits golf can play in improving business.

The IBGS web-site <http://innovativebusinessgolf.com> features Mr Duke's blogs and articles written on a wide range of business, social and humorist issues.

He also is the Host of the podcasts: Ask Mr Business Golf Show and Happy Hour with Mr Business Golf podcast which are featured on the IBGS web-site.

Scot is also a contributing writer for the Technically Speaking, The Golf Approach and DigitalGolf.tv web-sites. He also is a principle in developing several online ventures.

Resides in Addison, Texas, with his wife Kat and is a member of the Brookhaven Country Club, the flagship private club of ClubCorp of America.